

Theoretical and applied concepts in sustainability Research Centre for Health and Performance in Sport in Society structure Science, Human Excellence and Sports University in Romania

Ioan Ion Lador

Carol Davila University of Medicine and Pharmacy, Bucharest

Abstract

The Society of Human Excellence and Sports Science University in Romania (SHESSUR) was established in order to bring together the results of scientific research, human excellence and human performance, the recovery level macrosystem to support school and university sport elite performance in our country.

We know that governments of all countries of the world contribute increasingly less money from the budget to support sport in general. In this context, SHESSUR aims through the establishment and functionnnality of its fundraising, to contribute to national research for sustainable human excellence. Their results will bring a decisive contribution to achieving great performances at schools and universities in Romania.

Keywords: concepts, sustainability, research, human excellence, athletic performance